AI Visibility Snapshot

Prepared for: La Bella Med Spa (Nolensville, TN) Date: June 16, 2026

1. What buyers see when they ask AI about you

I asked the major AI engines and search the questions a real customer in your area would ask:

- Who is the best med spa in Nolensville, TN for Botox and filler?
- Where can I get filler or aesthetic treatments near Nolensville?

Result: AI named Body Works (which calls itself “the only full-service med spa in Nolensville”), Nolo Medspa, and Dr. Tiffanie Garrison-Jeter. La Bella was not mentioned in any of three searches. The only places you surface at all are third-party directories like Yelp, not your own site.

2. Your AI visibility scorecard

Check	Status
Structured data (tells AI what you are, where, your services and reviews)	Missing (generic site tag only)
AI crawler access (robots.txt, sitemap, llms.txt)	Partial (no llms.txt)
Readable content (enough for AI to understand you)	Thin (under 900 characters of text)
One clear, authoritative brand	Missing (split across booking links, handles, a 2nd name)

Overall AI Visibility Grade: F (38 / 100)

3. The three things hurting you most

- 1 No med-spa structured data, and almost nothing to read. Your site carries only a generic website tag, the page title is just “La Bella Med Spa” with no city or services, the description is empty, and there are under 900 characters of real text. AI has nearly nothing to extract, so it hands the answer to competitors that spelled it out.
- 2 Your brand is split across several identities. Two booking systems are live (Acuity and Mangomint), two Instagram handles point to you, and the footer even links a different business name. AI sees a divided, uncertain brand instead of one authoritative source, which weakens every signal.
- 3 Your listings disagree with each other. At least one Yelp listing shows the spa as closed while your site and Google show it open, and a stray test page sits in your sitemap. Conflicting signals are exactly what makes AI leave a business out of the answer.

4. What this means

Buyers in Nolensville are increasingly asking AI who to trust, and right now AI is handing them to Body Works while you are not in the conversation. The good news: every issue above is fixable, most competitors have not fully fixed it either, and consolidating your brand into one clear, structured site would move you quickly.

The full picture, every question your buyers ask, how often you appear, exactly who is beating you and why, and the step-by-step fix plan, is in the complete AI Visibility Audit. Let’s book 15 minutes to walk through it. [\[Calendar link\]](#)
